Avalanche Hits German Resort, 40 Feared Dead

GARMISCH-PARTENKIRCHEN, Germany, May 15 (AP)—A giant spring avalanche swept down the sun-drenched slopes of Mt. Zugspitze with a "doomsday roar" today, burying scores of persons under tons of snow. As many as 40 persons were feared killed. By late tonight, 11 bodies had been dragged from the snow. Authorities said another 25 to 30 persons still were missing and presumed dead. As torches and floodlights illuminated the disaster scene, a German army officer in charge of the rescue said: "The snow was as hard as reinforced concrete. No one can still be alive under those masses of snow."

All the victims identified so far were Germans or Austrians. The slide came tumbling down over a mountain hotel, where tourists sunbathed on the terrace, and onto the vast slope below the 9,719-foot mountain, where skiers were staking out a race for a race. An eyewitness said the avalanche came with a "sonorous roar."

Twenty persons were hurt, 15 seriously. Others escaped the sliding snow unharmed. Some 500 men, including German, Austrian and U.S. army teams, joined in the all-night search for the victims. They were aided by specially trained dogs in combing the vast area below the peak, where the foot-wide avalanche took its course. In some spots the snow was dug up 50 feet.

The rescuers dug deep into the snow to extend the reach of special detectors which are able to probe to a depth of about 10 feet. Mt. Zugspitze, at 9,719 feet, is Germany's highest peak. It is a popular spot for skiers who want to continue their sport late into the warm season. Garmisch-Partenkirchen, scene of the 1936 winter Olympics, is also a major Alpine recreation center. The avalanche thundered down at 1 p.m. About 25 persons were dug out immediately.

The snow slide started at a point above the avalanche-proof chaferheraus hotel and swept over the hotel's terrace and down the Zugspitzplatt ski slope.

At least eight tourists enjoying the sun on the terrace were carried off together with their deckchairs onto the slope below, where scores of terrified skiers sought to escape.

Rescue operations started immediately. Search crews were down to the slope by German army helicopters or rode up in a cog-wheel train linking this Alpine resort with the hotel.

Those freed were taken down by choppers or the cog-wheel railroads to hospitals in the valley, lost suffered only from shock.

The avalanche danger had become acute after several days of warm sunshine in the Alps.

Johnson to Urge Cut in Excise Taxes

WASHINGTON, May 15 (UPI)—President Johnson announced today he will recommend that congress cut excise taxes by 1.75 billion dollars on July 1, by a like amount next Jan. 1, and by $4.4 million dollars more by 1970. That adds up to almost four billion dollars over a five-year period.

Johnson said he will recommend that the excise tax on automobiles and air conditioners be reduced effective Saturday.

Since it will be some time before congress acts on the proposal, this means the tax cut will be retroactive on these items. The aim is to avoid the possibility of a buyers' strike while a cut is under consideration.

The excise levy on new autos is 10 per cent, which means it adds $225 to the cost of the average automobile. Johnson proposed cutting it to seven per cent now—a saving of about $75 to the average car buyer, and to five per cent by 1967.

1,402 Register for City Bond Election

Some 1,402 Twin Falls residents registered by 9 p.m. Saturday at city hall for the Tuesday water bond election, according to Mrs. Constance J. Leiser, city clerk. There are 3,810 registered voters in the city. As of 9 p.m. Saturday some 104 residents had voted by absentee ballots, Mrs. Leiser said. Residents who had not voted in two successive general elections, or who were away more than a year, but had lived here for at least 30 days, were required to register before they can vote. To qualify to vote in the election the individual must be a taxpayer who pays taxes on real or personal property located within the city. He must also be a United States citizen, a resident of the state for six months and in the city for three months and 21 years of age or over. Electors who have moved from one ward to another were required to transfer their voting registration.

Absentee balloting is permitted until 5 p.m. Monday. Polls will be open Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. Residents of ward one will vote in the Twin Falls county courthouse; ward two, Twin Falls city hall; ward three, Wyllie's Truck Sales; ward four, Memorial Lutheran school and ward five, Washington school. A map showing the boundaries of the five wards will be printed in the May edition of the Times-News.

Mrs. Constance J. Leiser, city clerk, said that all voters will be asked to sign an oath stating that they possess the qualifications of a voter and that they are residents of the ward in which they are voting.

Johnson said it was possible to use paper currency in place of silver dollars, whereas there is no substitute for smaller coins.

Congress appropriated $600,000 last year for the manufacture of dollars and Johnson said: "It has always been my intention to carry out the will of congress as soon as feasible."

He said substantial progress has been made in bringing the supply of small coins into line with demand so he directed him to proceed with turning out other coins to overcome a shortage. Johnson noted in a statement.

U.S. Aid to Caribbean Area Pledged

WASHINGTON, May 15 (UPI)—President Johnson today promised full-out U.S. aid for rapid economic development of the Dominican Republic if the Organization of American States (OAS) is able to assure a unified government there.

He made the pledge in a statement reaffirming his hopes that the OAS peace mission now in Santo Domingo will find a quick solution that will assure the Dominicans the principles of a democratic constitution and a government of national unity.

News Around Idaho

NAMPA, May 15 (UPI)—Idaho's 1965 traffic fatality toll stood at 72 today with the death of a 13-year-old Nampa boy in a car-bicycle collision on a residential Nampa street. Injured fatally in the Friday crash was Larry Scott Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Campbell of Nampa. Officers said the "Campbell boy" was struck from behind by a car driven by Howard Nau, 17, of Meridian while making a left turn on his bicycle.

OROFINO, May 15 (UPI)—The U. S. forest service announced today preparations are under way for a large timber "salvage" sale in the Quartz creek drainage of the Canyon ranger district. The proposed sale volume will be approximately 155 million board-feet, of which about 100 million board-feet will be white pine. Heavy damage caused by blistert rust and a current epidemic of Mountain Pine beetles created the need for salvaging the white pine. The forest service said the Quartz creek sale would be prepared and advertised as soon as possible.

POCATELLO, May 15 (UPI)—The Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs is on record favoring a statewide motor vehicle inspection law but has rejected a proposal calling for revision of the state sales tax statute. The subjects were considered by the 150 delegates to the federation's annual convention that ended in Pocatello yesterday. In other action, the federation refused to endorse a resolution asking that election returns be withheld from the news media until after all polling places had closed. Boise was selected by the delegates as site for their 1966 convention.

COEUR D'ALENE, May 15 (UPI)—D and K Logging company Peck, was the successful bidder for 1,156,000 board-feet of lumber offered for sale yesterday by the bureau of land management. D and K's bid was $13,008.35. District Manager Richard L. Schaefer of the BLM said the timber was from the Bench creek tract about 20 miles north of Orofino on the Clearwater river. Schaefer said the timber sold included 651,000 board-feet of Douglas fir, 281,000 board-feet of Western larch, 112,000 board-feet of Grand fir, 62,000 board-feet of Western Redcedar, and 50,000 board-feet of ponderosa pine.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—The Idaho Outfitters and Guides board resolved a long standing dispute yesterday by granting an outfitter's license to Harold Hansen, North Fork. The board, at a meeting last Sept. 29, refused to issue a license to Hansen but agreed to reconsider its action on the basis of evidence received at an informal hearing April 21 at Salmon. The license covers a portion of the same territory for which Wayne England, also North Fork, also holds a license.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—The Idaho public utilities commission announced today it has authorized temporary bus operations between Coeur d'Alene and Furrugut state park during the International Girl Scout Roundup this summer. The commission said it authorized Empire Lines, Inc., Spokane, to operate passenger bus service on U. S. highway 95 from June 15 to Aug. 15.

ST. ANTHONY, May 15 (UPI)—James Levi Thompson, 79, of St. Anthony, was convicted yesterday of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death last Aug. 16 of St. Anthony Police Chief Kenneth C. Brower. A district court jury brought in the verdict of guilty to the lesser charge after completion of Thompson's trial on a charge of first degree murder. Thompson had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. The slaying stemmed from a dispute over the location of a cattle guard. Witnesses testified they saw Thompson walk to where Brower and assistants were installing the cattle guard and fire the fatal shot after a brief exchange of words.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—State Land Commissioner O. J. Buxton has been told that whether he keeps his job or is replaced will depend on how he carries out a new policy governing the capitol custodian force. The policy, adopted at a surprise land board meeting yesterday, was designed to clear up complaints about Buxton's handling of the custodial staff which have resulted in rumors that the land commissioner is on his way out. The meeting was called by Lieut. Gov. William E. Drevlow who indicated earlier in the week he was unhappy with Buxton's performance and expected corrective steps to be taken immediately. The board directed Buxton to arrange to retire all custodial employees over age 65 as soon as possible after July 1, the date the state retirement program goes into effect.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—A report on utilization of vacant statehouse office space will be presented to the state land board at a meeting scheduled for next Tuesday. A subcommittee of the board met yesterday to go over the question, survey unoccupied office space and prepare a report. State Auditor Joe Williams, subcommittee chairman, said, however, that his group did not intend to draft specific recommendations for utilization of the space. Other members of the subcommittee are Atty. Gen. Allan G. Shepard and State Superintendent of Public Instruction D. F. Engelskin.

CALDWELL, May 15 (UPI)—The College of Idaho announced today the gift to it of $750,000 for construction of a new library. The announcement said the gift is being made by the Terteling foundation of Boise. Construction of a new library was listed as one goal in its expansion program marking the school's 75th anniversary, scheduled next year.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie protested today a proposed amendment of the anti-poverty law to remove state veto power over proposed neighborhood youth projects. The governor, back in his office after a trip to Washington, D. C., said he sent telegrams to the Democratic chairman and ranking Republican member of the house education and labor committee, protesting the proposal. He also sent telegrams to all other Republican governors urging them to take similar protests. Smylie is chairman of the National Republican Governors association.

POCATELLO, May 15 (UPI)—Bannock Steel corporation announced today it is exercising an option to buy all assets and inventory of Marsh Steel and Aluminum company. Marsh Steel has plants at North Kansas City, Mo.; Denver, Colo.; Albuquerque, N. M., and Baton Rouge, La. Bannock Steel operates warehouse and steel fabrication plants in Pocatello and Boise. A subsidiary is Gate City Steel company, with plants at Omaha and Columbus, Neb.

OROFINO, May 15 (UPI)—The president of the state board of health says he is confident Potlatch Forests, Inc., will eliminate air and water pollution resulting from operations at its Lewiston plant. Dr. Paul Ellis Wallace, made the statement after hearing Potlatch officials tell the board they plan to spend 2.5 million dollars to three million dollars for construction of treatment facilities. Dr. Ellis said it is the board's policy to work with industry and that he is satisfied Potlatch Forests is "doing everything they can as fast as they can" to clean up the problem. William Gray, pulp and paper vice president for PFI, said, however, that work on a proposed pollution treatment complex cannot begin until the corps of engineers decides where it will place a dike to protect its Lewiston plant from slackwater navigation. He said that decision may not be made before next fall.

BOISE, May 15 (UPI)—Appointment of the Rev. Wendell L. Cox, Boise, as eastern district superintendent of the Methodist church's Idaho conference was announced today. The Rev. Mr. Cox has been pastor of the Whitney Methodist church in Boise for five years. As district superintendent he succeeds the Rev. Charles W. Easley, Jr., Boise, who is being given a leave of absence for further studies.

MOUNTAIN HOME, May 15 (UPI)—Jet fighters screamed low overhead, special forces troops dropped in parachutes and tanks belched flame today at Mountain Home air force base's 1965 Armed Forces day celebration. The preparedness demonstrations by Idaho active, reserve and national guard units drew thousands of spectators to the base. The F102 jet fighters, piloted by Idaho air national guard squadron men, began the program with the first of three fly-overs. They were immediately followed by an opening parade of equipment and personnel from all participating units. The parachute drop of army national guard special forces, drill team demonstrations, another fly-over and a flame-throwing tank demonstration by the marine reserve followed in quick succession.

PICKING UP LOOSE ROCKS on the lawn at the Kimberly grade school are some 20 Kimberly high school seniors who were doing penance duty for this year's senior prank. Some of the seniors were caught in the act of attempting to put a tire over the flagpole on the high school grounds, Supt. Robert (Dutch) Sherman said. They were using a ladder which had been left outside and reportedly the noise of cranking the ladder up the flagpole attracted attention to the prank. The superintendent added that each year this job of picking up the loose rocks grade school children have kicked from the gravel areas into the lawns is performed by seniors as penalty for some graduation-time prank. Operators' Licenses to Be Increased

Vehicle operator license fees will be hiked, but the period of use will be extended, starting Tuesday, the Twin Falls driver's license bureau announced Saturday.

Operators' licenses will cost $6 for a three-year period, instead of $4 for a two-year period, us at present. Chauffeur's licenses will cost $8 for three years compared with $3 for one year now.

Instructors' permits and drivers' training licenses will remain at $3 for the duration of training.

Duplicate licenses, both operators and chauffeurs, will cost $1.50, a hike of 75 cents over previous years.

The new license fees were set up during this year's legislative session.

Idaho GOP
Criticism of Senator Hit

State Democratic party Chairman Lloyd J. Walker, Twin Falls, said today: "The Republican party in Idaho seems to have collapsed into a complete state of confusion."

John McMurray, Republican state chairman, recently criticized Sen. Frank Church for not completely supporting President Johnson's foreign policy, while trumpeting that the Republicans are behind President Johnson one hundred per cent.

"Mr. McMurray last year criticized the senator for being the President's rubber stamp. The Republicans seem to have lost all semblance of intellectual individuality. They either completely support or completely oppose the Democratic President, but they have totally lost the ability to be independent in thought or action."

"In addition, perhaps it might help if they could read. Sen. Church has long advocated the policy of aggressively seeking peace through strength."

"He has long opposed the Republican doctrine of being a bully in world affairs just to try to show off your muscles."

"President Johnson has, in his John Hopkins address and again Thursday in his speech before the National Cartoonists Association, endorsed and incorporated into his own policy much of the program proposed by our own senator."

"We are pleased that the Republicans support our President, but we think that to be consistent they should applaud with equal vigor one of the architects of the program, Idaho's Democratic Sen. Frank Church."

Thursday's organizational meeting will include election of officers and other business.

Slowpoke Driving Bill Is Approved

SACRAMENTO, May 15 (UPI) — The senate yesterday approved a bill aimed at getting the slowpoke driver out of the fast lanes.

The measure, by Assemblyman George W. Millas, R., Gilroy, would make it a violation of the law to drive slower than the normal flow of traffic in the center lane.

Sen. Clark R. Bradley, R., San Jose, who carried the measure in the senate, told his colleagues that it was designed to "correct abuses of the fast lane by slowpoke drivers" who create a "dangerous bottleneck."

In other senate action:

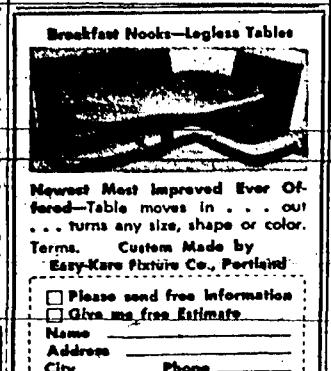

Liquor and drugs — The senate approved a bill making it a felony for a person to drive under the combined influence of liquor and drugs if he is involved in an accident. The measure was by Sen. Randolph Collier, D., Yreka.

Farm-labor — The senate postponed a vote on a resolution asking U.S. Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz to certify Mexican braceros for California. Sen. Fred S. Parr, D., Carmel, said that California would face a "real crisis" in the tomato-crop soon.

Polls — The senate approved an assembly bill that generally forbids election officials to announce results until 8 p.m. when California's most populous counties close their polls. The exception applies to precincts that count all votes prior to 8 p.m.

Drivers — A bill allowing the state motor vehicles department to establish training courses for drivers whose licenses are suspended or revoked was approved by the senate. The measure by assemblyman Tom Carroll, D., San Fernando, went to the governor.

GRADUATION SLATED KIMBERLY, May 16 — Jo Ann Jackson Larsen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Jackson, route 1, Kimberly, will be graduated with a master of social work degree from the University of Utah on June 11.

Shopping Spree Winner Nets $218.08

Mrs. J. G. Haag, 222 Polk street, managed to accumulate $218.08 in groceries during a five-minute shopping spree Friday in Jay's Save-On shopping center.

She was the first-place winner in the Pepsi-Cola Bottling company's two million dollar shopping spree, and in winning locally, she will qualify for the national grand prize drawing.

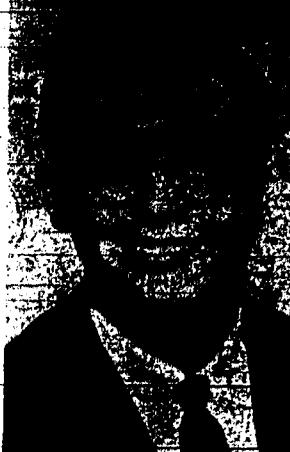

The grand prize consists of a 30-minute shopping spree for the whole family and a $40,000 Johns-Manville house.

Friends and members of Mrs. Haag's family gathered around the check stand to watch her carry the groceries. She was allowed to wear a large-pocketed apron for the occasion.

The bulk of her groceries consisted of canned, frozen and fresh meats. Rules of the contest don't permit the winner to use a shopping basket or any other kind of carrying device.

The only items that counted were the ones she got atop the checkout counter.

THIS is progress

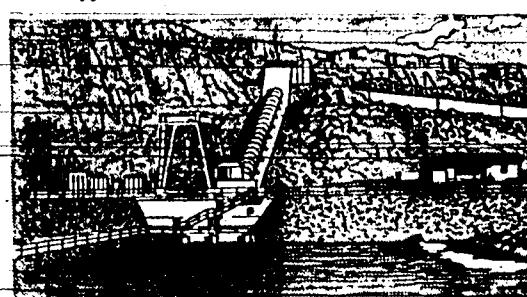

These hydroelectric plants were added to the Idaho Power system since 1945 because the economic growth of the area required them.

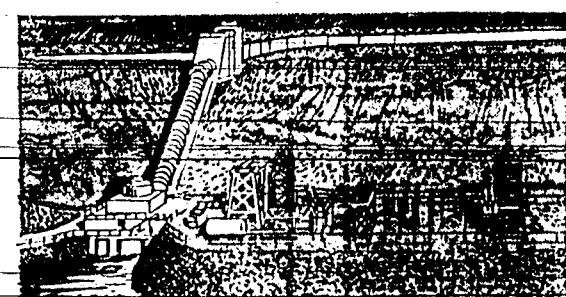

Upper Salmon, second unit 19,000 KW added

Lower Salmon, enlarged 62,800 KW added

Upper and Lower Malad 19,000 KW added

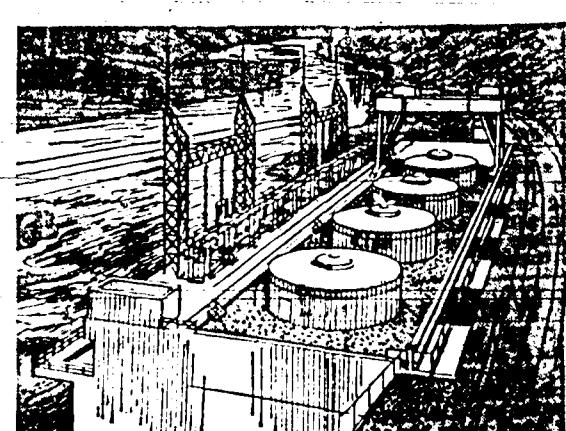

C. J. Strike 89,000 KW added

Bliss 80,000 KW added

Brownlee 450,000 KW added

Oxbow 220,000 KW added

• The dimensions of Idaho's growth are startling! What has happened to the economy during the past 20 years — in terms of new jobs, new income and new industries — is truly remarkable.

Indicative of the growth is the vastly increased use of electricity. Idaho Power Company has expanded its hydroelectric generating capacity by nearly 10 times, and we're building more because it will be needed!

Think for a moment of the industries throughout the Snake River Valley which didn't exist at the end of World War II. Let's enumerate some of the facts about them:

★ Idaho employment in manufacturing alone now exceeds 32,000 people, an increase of 14,000. New industries locating in southern Idaho and eastern Oregon in just five years have given employment to more than 5,000 people. Total personal income has increased 2½ times — retail sales by 3½ times. Idaho housing units — new homes and apartments — have increased by some 75,000.

★ The potato processing industry is a good example of post-war growth. Idaho had three plants in the year 1944 — now it has 20. Payrolls in this industry went from $2 million annually to more than $20 million. Nearly 60% of all processed potatoes in the nation come from the Snake River Valley.

★ More than a million new acres of land have been made productive by electric pumping, and the total is increasing at a rate of more than 50,000 acres per year.

★ The phosphate industry has grown to be a giant in the post-war period. Electric furnaces for phosphate processing — the first in the West — came to Idaho to utilize the resource with the advantage of abundant, low-cost electricity. The phosphate fertilizer industry has expanded ten times in ten years, and is now doubling its present capacity to become one of the largest in the world.

These are some of the highlights of Idaho growth. Best of all, it is continuing. This Is Progress for the area, and for every citizen.

We're now building the 425,000-kilowatt Hells Canyon project to be in operation in 1967. You will continue to have abundant, low-cost electric power in whatever quantities are needed in the future as the area keeps growing. Idaho is growing faster than you may think.

Color Show to Be Televised Via Satellite

WASHINGTON, May 15 (UPI) — The Communications Satellite Corporation (COMSAT) announced today that its Early Bird satellite will telecast a program in color Monday for the first time.

The program, titled "A New Olde England," will originate in London and will be broadcast in the United States from 7:30 to 8 p.m., EDT. The transmission will coincide with the 100th anniversary of the International Telecommunications Union (ITU).

United Nations-TV will use its time segment on the Early Bird to broadcast to the French television network an ITU anniversary speech by Secretary General Thant.

Autos, Cows Tangle, No Drivers Hurt

Three persons escaped serious injury late Friday night when a 1958 Ford driven by James Jackson, Buhl, struck and killed four cows about one and one-half miles east of Filer.

Two other cars were involved in the encounter with the livestock, but none except the Ford were seriously damaged. The Jackson youth was the only one injured.

He was taken to Magic Valley Memorial hospital where he was treated for scalp injuries and released, according to Deputy Sheriff Thomas Majors, one of the investigating officers.

Edward Dahlquist, Buhl, driving a 1960 Impala, came suddenly upon the scene, applied his brakes in order to miss the Ford, which was sitting in the middle west bound lane of traffic after hitting the cows. When Dahlquist applied his brakes, his car swerved and came to rest parallel with the Ford. Although his car was touching the Ford, no damage was done to the Impala, as it apparently came gently to rest against the Ford.

Another car, driven by Dick

Brewer, 31, 269 Addison Avenue west, came upon the scene and skidded over a carcass. The live stock was owned by R. W. Schifter, Filer.

Deputy Sheriff Majors was assisted in the investigation by a state patrolman.

House Is Swallowed By Sinkhole

CASSELBERRY, Fla., May 15 — A three-bedroom house was completely swallowed and three others were damaged when a 40-foot sinkhole opened up today.

It started at dawn when a neighbor heard "four real loud cracks like shots." No one was hurt, but Richard Rozolsky's roof sank to ground level by afternoon.

"I had seen the sinkholes in the back yard but never conceived of anything like this happening," he said.

Sinkholes, common throughout most of Florida, occur when subterranean limestone erodes, creating a cavern that eventually collapses.

Neighbors whose houses were damaged as they tilted toward the crater began hauling away their furniture. High school student David Trudding arrived this morning at Rozolsky's house in this community just north of Orlando.

"I came over to mow the lawn but, no lawn," he said.

Hereford Unit Seeks Blood Report for Artificial Bull

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 15 — Hereford breeders who are using, or planning to use, their herd bulls artificially in the production of calves to be registered should secure a bloodtype on those bulls as soon as possible.

The bloodtype report is the fundamental requirement in obtaining a permit from either the American Hereford Association or the American Polled Hereford Association for the registry of calves conceived through artificial service.

"Obtaining bloodtype reports and permits at an early date could avoid possible difficulty in the future," stated American Hereford Association Secretary Paul Swaffar. "Take an extreme example. Semen from a bull, for which no bloodtype report or permit has been obtained, is used in artificially mating a cow today."

"Conception occurs. The bull dies or is killed tomorrow, making a bloodtype report impossible. Without a bloodtype report on file, a permit to record the calf cannot be issued."

Swaffar further pointed out that the requirement of bloodtype reports on bulls used artificially, and permits to record calves resulting, is in addition to the regular rules for registration. "Artificial insemination, if calves do occur and often suddenly without warning. Therefore, by obtaining bloodtype reports now, even though a permit to record artificially produced calves will not be needed until some time later, registry of such calves will not be denied."

Swaffar also reminded breeders that permits and bloodtype reports on bulls are not necessary when natural service is the exclusive practice.

Gutierrez is a member of Spanish, Key and Biology clubs and is a member of the student council and varsity track team.

Following these visits they will hold a meeting to discuss these problems and make their report to the state department of labor, who will then appoint a three-man committee to make recommendations for the necessary improvements to the individual camps.

Improvements to the local camps have been planned for this fall.

The camp at Hazelton is now in full operation. Anyone interested in securing labor should contact Ted Dean, manager.

DALLAS, May 15 (UPI) — The first thing that came to Ralph Gene Youngblood's mind yesterday when he escaped from the federal correctional institution at nearby Seagoville, was obvious.

Youngblood was driving her car north on an oiled road when it collided with the front bumper and fender of a 1963 Jeep pickup truck driven by Ward, who was traveling west.

Miss Deeds was driving her car north on an oiled road when it collided with the front bumper and fender of a 1963 Jeep pickup truck driven by Ward, who was traveling west.

Miss Deeds' car traveled across the road, narrowly missed the horseback rider, knocked down a fence post, jumped a ditch and came to rest in a farm field, owned by Urban Mason. She suffered considerable shock and a bruised shoulder but did not require hospitalization.

The jeep pickup truck suffered little damage and Ward was unhurt.

Kiwanis International Top Official Will Speak Here

Edward B. Moylan, Jr., president of Kiwanis International, will be speaker at an area-wide dinner meeting to be held Tuesday at the national guard armory in Twin Falls.

Dr. John McNees, president of the local Kiwanis club, said the event will start at 7:30 p.m.

Moylan, who is a Miami, Fla., real estate broker, was elected president of Kiwanis International at the organization's 49th convention in Los Angeles last July.

He represents more than 270,000 business and professional leaders in the 5,300 clubs across the United States, Canada, Mexico, the Caribbean, the Philippines, Japan and Western Europe.

He has been a Kiwanis member for 44 years and has held practically every office in the organization on a local, state and national level.

Prior to being elevated to the presidency he had served as year-as-president-elect, a year as treasurer and four years as international trustee.

Host club for the event will be the Twin Falls organization, according to Dr. McNees.

Idaho clubs from as far away as Idaho Falls and Boise are sending delegations to the banquet. Attendance is expected to top 400 men and their wives or guests.

Clubs of division five of the Utah-Idaho district all will be represented, Dr. McNees said. They include, in addition to Twin Falls, clubs at Burley, Declo, Rupert, Buhl, Jerome and Filer.

"We are honored by having the international president visit our community, especially when you realize that there are more than 5,000 Kiwanis clubs in existence and that he can visit only a relative few during his year in office."

"This is the third time in the past few years that the organization's head has favored us in this manner. We are looking forward to a gala night," Dr. McNees said.

Although advance ticket sales have been completed, the local president pointed out that there will be tickets available at the door that evening for those members who have not been contacted.

SAN JOSE, Calif., May 15 — Five-year-old Darrell Hernandez got separated from his grandmother while they were shopping yesterday, and being a resourceful young fellow, he decided to walk the few blocks to his home.

Four hours later, he was brought to the Sunnyvale police station by a teen-age girl who found him walking determinedly along a street 10 miles in the opposite direction from his home.

Institute in Theater Arts Is Scheduled

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY, Pocatello, May 15 — Idaho State University, Pocatello, will host a theater institute for high school students this summer so the students can return to school and see their instructors.

The institute will be held from July 6 until Aug. 6, and university officials feel that high school juniors and sophomores who participate in the program will be able to return to their high schools in the fall with added experience and training which will help the students be helpful to high school instructors.

Students who can arrange housing and board with friends and relatives in the Pocatello area will find the tuition only $50. For students living on campus, total cost for room and board for a five-day week will be $145. A seven-day room and board tuition will be $175.

Students will be given instruction in voice and diction, acting, stagecraft, lighting, makeup, costume, rehearsing and performance.

The Dilettante Group of Magic Valley will provide a full $175 scholarship to a deserving drama student from the valley. Auditions for the scholarship will be held at 7 p.m. Monday in Washington school auditorium.

Anthom Anderson was the founder-and-first-president, and management of the firm has been in the family ever since. Current chairman of the board is W. W. Anderson, the only living son of the founder.

LeRoy Anderson, president and general manager of the firm, is a grandson of the founder. Mr. Mayer has said, "While we have great pride in our company's past, we view the future as a real challenge. Five Persons Seeking Three Posts in Buhl School Trustee Election Tuesday

BUHL, May 15 — Considerable interest is evidenced in the Buhl trustee election scheduled Buhl school system for three Tuesday with five candidates for years and for the past two years chosen for three-year terms in Kimberly high school. He has served for five years.

Mrs. Helen Baggs, a native of Jerome, moved to Buhl in 1945 when her husband established his dental practice here. She received her education at Albion, Idaho State University, and summer school training at the University of Idaho. Civic duty and numerous quests for a woman to serve on the board were listed as the reasons for Mrs. Baggs to seek the position on the local school board. Mrs. Baggs pointed out if elected she will go on the school board with an open mind and present time. She has two children, and is active in the Order of Eastern Star and Mentor club, their solution.

OAO Members Enjoy Formal Dinner-Dance

By NORMA HERZINGER

Rarely do you find an organization that is strictly "social." But the OAO (One And Only) club is one that meets all the requirements.

All dues from members go for dinners, formal dances and to add to the social functions of the organization.

Such was the spring formal dinner-dance held at the Elks ballroom. Women in their elegant gowns couldn't have looked more lovely. Members of the official reception line, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Driscoll, welcomed the many guests as they arrived.

Spring was very evident as the bright seasonal colors accented the colorful Maypoles, candles and flowers that centered the dinner tables and provided just the right atmosphere for this spring formal.

A delightful cuisine was prepared and served buffet style by Leo Soran, owner and operator of the Depot grill, Leo's Golden Glow and manager of the cafeteria in the Elks building.

Following the dinner, members danced to the music of Bud Teasley's orchestra.

To have a pleasant social evening with friends is one of the rare pleasures of today's on-the-go society. To quote one of the OAO club members, "Social enjoyment and pleasant relaxation among friends is our main objective. Our group was organized for this purpose and we strive to maintain it."

The OAO club was organized in 1931, when Mrs. W. F. Passer and Mrs. Walter Keller, now residing in Boise, decided Twin Falls needed a dance club. The unit wanted to pattern its dances after the formal balls that are famous in the South. The group started with 30 couples and has grown to a membership of 130 couples.

The members wanted to organize this type of dance group that the membership could be passed down from generation to generation.

When the club first started, it met once each month for a nine-month period. Now the dance season includes five dances, starting in October and ending with the spring formal in April. The unit sponsors one guest dance each year and a Christmas formal.

Foyt Clinches Pole Position For Indy 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 15 — Defending champion A. J. Foyt smashed all speed records today and virtually clinched the pole position for the rich $500,000 May 31 auto race.

The national driving champion from Houston, Tex., was the third speedster within minutes to crack last year's records, fastest of all time, with nearly five hours left in the time trials. Then he sat back and watched to see if anybody could catch him.

Both Foyt and Scotland's Jim Clark, last year's pole winner, smashed the 160-mile-per-hour barrier for the first time ever. And Italian rookie Mario Andretti also rewrote Clark's 1964 records.

Foyt, the first four-time national driving champion, steered a rear-engined Lotus Ford—a car similar in design to Clark's—over four spine-tingling laps for a record average of 161.233 miles per hour which broke all records. His fastest single lap was his first, 161.058, also a record.

Clark had averaged 160.729 just minutes before and the pint-sized Andretti became the fastest newcomer at a speed of 158.849. Clark's one-lap record was 160.973 and Andretti's 160.405.

Clark's 1964 records were 159.377 and 158.828 for one and four laps, respectively.

Thunderous cheers greeted all three record-breakers, but the huge crowd estimated at 200,000 saved the biggest ovation for Foyt, who, ironically, became the 13th qualifier. Clark was the 12th, Andretti the 11th.

All three cars are of rear-engine design equipped with Ford V-8 engines.

ISU Masters "Oldtimers" In Football

POCATELLO, May 15 (UPI) — Idaho State Bengals, rallying in the third quarter, masters their seniors today in an annual oldtimers' match that is the heart of the Bengals' spring football training.

ISU came from behind to lick the oldtimers 21-20 in the 12th annual event of the spring football occasion.

The Bengals' winning touchdown came on a pass from quarterback Don Neves to fullback Otha Roberts for a 14-yard gain, with Neves kicking the winning point.

The oldtimers made marches of 71 and 73 yards in front of Bengal kickoffs. The Bengal varsity's George Douglas, breaking off tackle, raced 72 yards for the longest run in the game.

After a 14-14 tie at the half, the oldtimers went out front in the third quarter when quarterback Boyd Hall plunged up the middle from 4 yards out to score.

Bob Ray, a Bengal end, snatched an oldtimer pass in the last minutes of the third quarter to halt an oldtimer's drive and set up the winning touchdown.

SWEET TAKES LEAD IN BUHL TOURNAMENT

Defending King Has Four-Stroke Lead With His 65

Defending champion Mike Sweet, Parma, toured the Bear Lakes golf course in a 65 Saturday to take the lead in the championship flight by four strokes in the 13th annual Buhl amateur golf tournament. His next competitor is Jimmy Carlson, Mountain Home air force base, at 69 with Larry Thompson, Pocatello, and Jim Purves, Twin Falls, close at hand with 70s. The first day entry list stood at 108.

BY LARRY HOVEY
Boulding your head against the wall and trying to promote landowner-sportmen relations don't about the same thing. It will give you nothing but headache.

The trouble with landowners is they are continually being harassed by the people any corrective measures will miss. On the hand are "sportmen" so are such only because they can buy a hunting or fishing license once a year. On the other are the irascible land owners who would give the president permission to cross their land.

Right in the middle are the ones who are willing to give and take though the landowner most gives. These are the ones that killed at Gannett Saturday morning with that ancient Mag Valley bugaboo—access to Silver creek—the crux.

Perhaps there were 10 to 15 on each side there. Both were trying to principles—right or wrong—and both sides showed they would talk about it. But hunting at home were the thoughts that were responsible for it. They will know from them the crowd and broken fences they are in their wake.

On the face of it one could assume the sportsmen had won when the log floating project didn't come off Saturday. It was indeed that the owners were loaded for bear and Bud Ostyn is a very articulate man, he got the point across in a snap.

But—and this is the truly tragic thing—a lot of the sportsmen don't fish Silver creek much if at all. They were there for the principle that the water and the fish belong to everyone, really what they were doing.

The contestants will be judged on the number of tickets sold by July 18 and the 1965 queen will be crowned by the 1964 queen Jane Langley the following day.

Five More
Five new contestants have added their names to the list for the 1965 Cowboy Queen contest scheduled for July 19 at Jaycee park, according to Vance (Shorty) Palsipher, Cowboy general manager.

The new girls and their sponsors are Claudia Tatterton, Eden, American Legion; Janet Small, Jerome, Elks Lodge; Jan Christopher, Hazelton, American Legion; Lois Dawn Anderson, Declo, Big D Roping club, and Pat Shastny, Murtough, Lions club.

The contestants will be judged on the number of tickets sold by July 18 and the 1965 queen will be crowned by the 1964 queen Jane Langley the following day.

Note here that the Idaho fish and game department has nothing whatever to do with the current squabble on Silver creek. Right now the sportsmen can toll off a long list of cratered recreation areas. And the crowning example was the deed of the state land board last year. That august group, in the name of education, sold a piece of public land along Salmon river. The pheasant "club" scare over the years ago, the growth of fee hunting and fishing and the prospect of more Silver creek and falling into non-resident hands make them more apprehensive.

But Purdy said "When you start something that indicates we would have no control at all about who comes on our land, start getting a little panicky." And who'd argue with that if put in the same position?

And Purdy gave some a point he could further feel. "The government is encouraging us to move into this fee hunting and fishing. Right now I could borrow money—from the government—to develop some sites and charge for their use."

While things like that prey on sportmen's minds, the landowners can tick off an equally long list of acts.

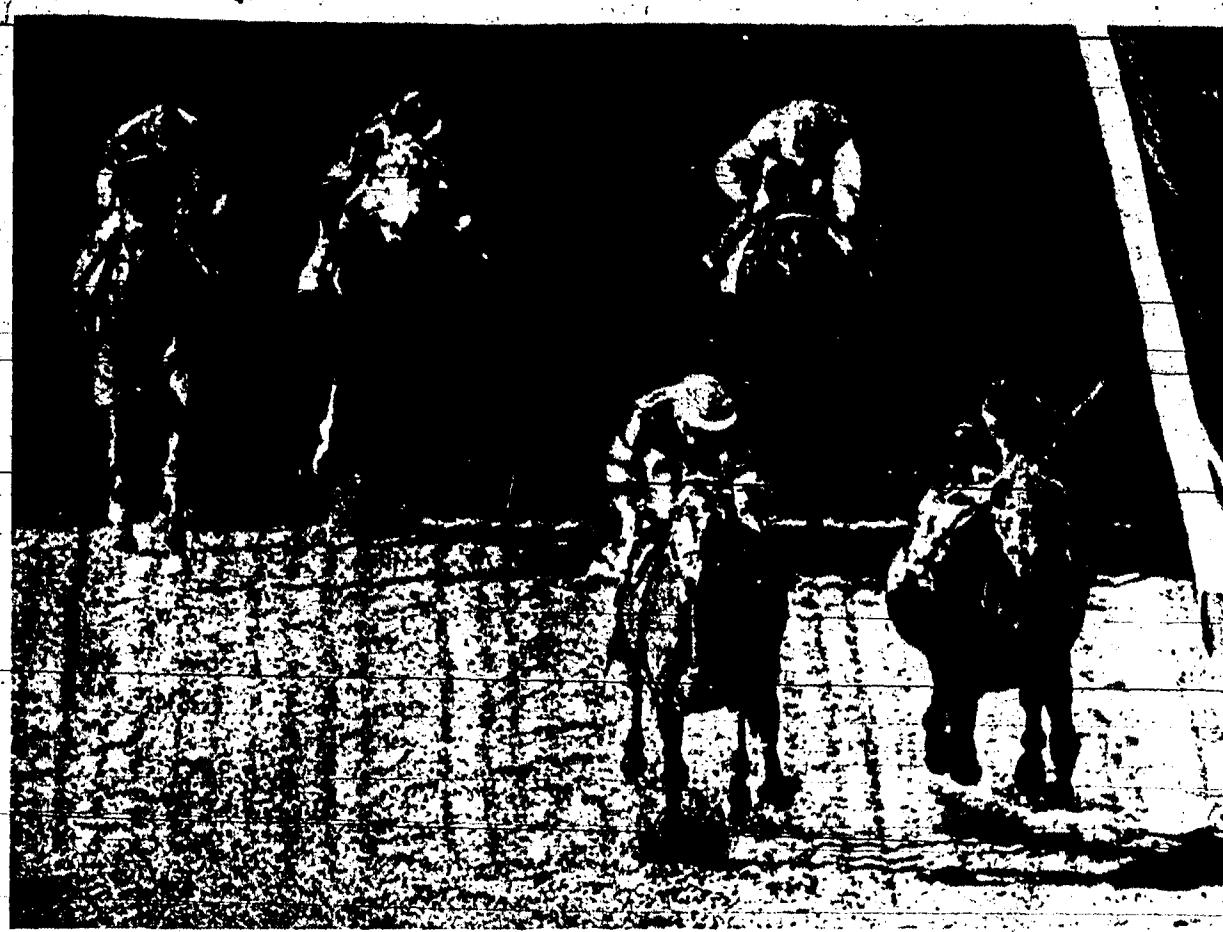

They recount occasional animals killed by hunters, hundreds of animals turned loose by gates being left open, thousands of deer carcasses strewn indiscriminately about. They can tell cases ofermen setting up tents in yards, using their machinery sheds for garages, etc. In fact, the gall of some is amazing.

That there is any access left is a tribute to rural clearance. No trespassing signs have often proved the last refuge. One Silver creek owner I heard remembered the time when he was pitched in one of his beds. He ran them off. But another was set up. "I just filled the water into the field and told them they'd find their way out."

"What we want is the right to go to the area around our homes, and other specific places ourselves," Purdy said. "I have no plans for closing all my back unless I'm forced to."

The thing that further does little to alleviate a landowner's apprehensions is the continuous fear that hunters and fishermen don't get along very well. Such an example is the game department, with the killing perch on one end of the lake there were other fishermen who were busy putting live fish back in on the other end. It probably should be well to

Ostyn Honored by T. F. With Farewell Banquet

Civic and school leaders eulogized and 130 persons added standing ovation Friday night as Twin Falls said goodbye to Paul Ostyn, retiring Twin Falls high school coach and incoming University of Idaho athletic director.

City commission chairman Egon Kroll, school board head J. T. Anderson, high school principal George Staudaher and Bruin Booster president Frank Plumb recounted the accomplishments of Ostyn from the adult standpoint. Bruin club president Alan Brown added more from the student and athlete's view.

Ostyn came to Twin Falls from Filer after coaching tours in Shoshone and Richfield stretching back to 1951. He started as head football and wrestling coach in 1958 and took over as athletic director the following year. In 1961 he gave up wrestling to take the basketball job and coached the Bruins to state runner-up honors in the past two years—the highest the Bruins have ever finished.

In reply Ostyn praised the city and school system of Twin Falls. "Many of our friends told us we could never be happy in Twin Falls," he said of his move from Filer. "We heard many things about the town and the school. But I can tell you they're all proved false during our stay here. When the time comes that I want to get out of athletics, I plan to return to Twin Falls to make my permanent home."

Ostyn thanked the "many successful men" who worked behind the scenes to make his program and career a success in Twin Falls.

Ostyn received gifts from the Bruin Boosters and Bruin club.

Mantle Gives Yankees Win Over Orioles

BALTIMORE, May 15 (AP)—Mickey Mantle's opposite field homerun, his 50th lifetime homer against Baltimore, broke an eight inning losing streak and gave the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory over the Orioles tonight.

Mantle's leadoff clout into the left field bleachers, while batting left-handed, came on a 2-2 pitch from Dick Hall, an old Yankee nemesis who had quelled a seven-inning rally when New York scored the tying run of Steven Barber.

New York tied the score and chased Barber in the seventh on a walk, a single by Doc Edwards and a double by Phil Linz. Hall then retired Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh on pop flies with runners in scoring position.

A home run by Trush was the only run Hall allowed the Yanks in five relief appearances last season, and since 1961 he had won five and saved seven other games against New York.

White Sox Strike Early For 8-3 Win

CHICAGO, May 15 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox "kayed" Los Angeles pitching ace Dean Chance with a four-run first inning and rolled to an 8-3 victory today that protected their slim American League lead.

Chance, a 20-game winner last year and winner of the Cy Young award as the top pitcher in the majors, was staked to a two-run lead in the first inning only to suffer his second loss in five decisions.

The White Sox wasted no time against Chance. Danny Cater opened with a double, took third while Don Buford was bouncing out and scored on Floyd Robinson's single. Pete Ward followed with a single and Robinson scored when Fregosi booted Moose Skowron's ground ball.

Ron Hansen walked and the White Sox took the lead on J. C. Martin's single. The fourth run of the inning came across on rookie Ken Berry's double.

Dodgers Use One Hit to Defeat Cubs

LOS ANGELES, May 15 (AP)—Pitcher Al Ferrara slugged a three-run homer with one out in the eighth inning—the only hit off Chicago left-hander Dick Ellsworth—and propelled the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-1 victory over the Cubs today.

Ellsworth, who had walked three men before the eighth inning but had not been in any serious trouble, combined with Ron Santo to contribute to his own downfall in a weird eighth inning.

Jeff Torborg led off for the Dodgers and reached base when third baseman Santo fumbled his routine grounder. Dick Tracy bunted, and Ellsworth tried to force pinch runner Willie Crawford at second base but his throw was too late.

On the next play, Ellsworth wound up on the ground, knocked down by Santo as both hustled over to field a sacrifice by John Kennedy. Santo, however, made the play and retired Kennedy, the runners moving to second and third. Ferrara then connected.

Dapper Dan Is Beaten by Neck; Foul Is Claimed

BALTIMORE, Md., May 15 (AP)—Tom Rolfe, a mighty mite from Raymond Guest's Pohatcong stables, came sweeping out of the pack on the final turn, took the lead one-eighth of a mile from home and survived a foul claim for a neck victory over Dapper Dan in the $180,600 Preakness at Pimlico today. Lucky Debonair, winner of the Kentucky derby, wound up seventh in the nine-horse field after challenging for the lead until they hit the home stretch one-quarter of a mile from the finish line.

With Canadian Ronnie Turcotte pounding away with his whip, Tom Rolfe assumed command about halfway down the stretch and opened up daylight advantage.

Dapper Dan, carrying the black and cherry silks of Ogden Phipps, came charging up along the rail to make the finish close just as he did two weeks ago in the derby when he came in a neck back of Lucky Debonair with Tom Rolfe third.

Mrs. Ben Cohen's Hall to All, came in third today, four lengths behind the leaders.

Then came Native Charger, Swift Ruler, Selarl, Lucky Debonair, Needles Count and Flag Raiser, who again faded after setting a bursting early pace.

There was only one-sixteenth left in the 1 3/8-mile race when Tom Rolfe bore over slightly toward the rail as Milo Valenzuela brought Dapper Dan charging from behind.

Valenzuela lodged a claim of foul, but after viewing the pictures and conferring for 15 minutes, the stewards ruled Tom Rolfe the winner.

In securing his first major triumph for his fifth victory in seven starts this year, the midge son of Ribot—Pocahontas, earned $128,100 and ran his career bankroll to $251,605. He was the second choice of the crowd of 38,108. Lucky Debonair went off the 8-5 favorite.

The winner returned $9.20, $5 and $3.80 after stepping the distance on the lightning fast track in 1:56 1-5. This compared to the Preakness record of 1:54 3-5 set by Nashua in 1955.

Dapper Dan, who had lost some of his supports after a slow workout early in the week, paid $7.20 and $4.60. Hall to All returned $5.60 to show.

Patterson Begins Tour After TKO

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, May 15 (AP)—A happy Floyd Patterson prepared today to start a Sweden exhibition tour Sunday in the wake of his quick technical knockout of Tod Herring.

Patterson, the former world heavyweight champion from New York, stopped his unranked opponent from Houston in the third round Friday night for his fifth straight victory since he lost the title to Sonny Liston.

Referee Teddy Walham of Great Britain stopped the fight after 40 seconds of the third round. Herring was hanging helpless on the ropes and Walham said "one more punch from such a hard-hitting fighter as Patterson could have killed him."

A capacity 11,000 at the indoor Johanneshov ice stadium gave an ovation to Patterson who regards Stockholm as his second home.

The former champ appeared sharper than he did in his previous outing when he outpointed George Chuvalo, the Canadian champion, in a 12-round in New York Feb. 1.

After his exhibition tour Patterson plans to attend the Cassius Clay-Liston title bout May 23 in Lewiston, Me. He said that Clay has promised him a title shot if the champion retains the crown against Liston.

"One thing is clear," Herring said after the bout. "Floyd could kill Clay any time." The loser said he plans to return to Houston as soon as possible.

Patterson weighed 195 pounds, Herring 210.

Car Damaged in Crash Near Eden

EDEN, May 15—Damage was estimated at $300 to a 1954 Ford sedan operated by Mrs. James Schutte, 21, Eden, after an accident at 6:10 p.m. Wednesday about one and one-half miles south of Eden.

GREAT CEMENT support posts of interchange on highway 80N north of the present Hansen bridge makes a dramatic photograph of construction now being carried in that area. Workmen can be seen on top of one of the support beams while a great crane, used in the lifting work, is noted in the background. Motorists will speed through this area at 70 miles an hour, with unobstructed vision and few curves, when the highway is completed. (Times-News photo)

Travel, Thinking Habits Of Many Will Change With Completion of Interstate

BY O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor

Construction of the high speed transportation interstate highway across the underbelly of southern Idaho is destined to change the traveling and thinking habits of thousands of Idaho citizens and visitors.

Right now the work represents the biggest single construction in all Idaho will be the only expenditure under way in the entire state and, when completed, the contemplated impact on the various communities and inhabitants will be felt.

Of all major communities across this part of Idaho which will feel the impact of the new road and its maze of interchanges, Twin Falls stands unique.

The fourth largest community major city which the highway will fail to skirt.

Starting at the western boundary, interstate 80N will touch Caldwell, Nampa, Boise, Mountain Home, (even King Hill and Bliss) Jerome and Burley. Then 80N swings down into Utah. Its counterpart, however, continues on as 15W to hit American Falls and Pocatello and then north.

LOOKING AT old Edison phonograph is Dean Burch, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Burch, Oakley. The old machine attracts the attention of all who see it. (Times-News photo)

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

Stereo phonographs are the rage today but back in the "good old days" just the recording of a human voice was a wonder in itself. A radio was a novelty but a phonograph was something out of this world. Harvey Mills, OAKLEY, still has one of these old "wonders" even though it is almost worn out (what wouldn't be with 10 children playing it almost every day?). He notes that they bought it second hand in 1932 for $75 as a Christmas present for his children as their former phonograph was left behind when the family moved from Emery county in Utah to the Salt Lake Valley.

The phonograph, which is an Edison model, is of the old crank type and stands around four feet high and uses a diamond needle which is much thicker than today's models. A record case is used at the base of the machine to hold records that measure a good one-fourth inch in thickness.

Songs like "The Wreck of the Old '97," "Silver Bells," "The Letter Edged in Black" and many more like them are seldom to be found anymore.

Music always has been a part of the Mills family and a piano was always in the home until the family was grown and then it went to a granddaughter in Utah. Mills began chording on a pump organ at the age of 13, then moved to playing with an orchestra where he taught himself to play the mandolin.

Soon after, however, his brother traded a horse for a violin which eventually came into Mills' possession and he began to take lessons. He laughs when he recalls that he paid a certain professor $6 for 12 lessons and six of the lessons are still coming as the professor moved to another town and soon after died.

Originally from Utah, Mills and his wife both wanted a better life for their family than that of the coal mines around Carbon and Emery counties where they were born so several moves were made back and forth between southern Idaho and eastern Utah until 1937 when a real estate agency referred them to Oakley, where they bought 60 acres and settled to finish raising their family.

For many years Mills played in western type dance orchestras and even had his own family orchestra. A son, Archer, played the guitar; a daughter, Verda, played the piano as well as a brother, Hugh; drums were played by Eldred, another brother, and Mills was the violinist. Other members of the family are talented singers.

A familiar hymn book shows the marks of the pages being used over and over again as the family would take the book along during the summertime to their ranch in the hills south of Oakley.

Mrs. Mills explained that many a day several hours were spent especially with the younger children sitting under some trees singing songs to make the time go faster until the rest of the family returned from their dunes.

Mills still plays the violin and only recently was able to take part in a musical hometown in Oakley. He still favors the old time songs, however, and enjoys participating in any kind of music.

Come September the Mills plan on celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

Time has a way of solving many things, even mysteries. And within the past year the mysterious disappearance of a HANSEN man nearly 50 years ago has been solved, at least partially. Since the death last year of a man known as Howard Lewis in TWIN FALLS, subsequent details have become unraveled in recent months much to the interest of the Galley family.

In 1913, Hugh Galley, 19, suddenly dropped out of sight. Hugh, who was the elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Galley, Hansen, farmers northeast of Hansen, was working in SHOSHONE, building hay. He came home for a week to recuperate after being ill, then went back to work promising to send money home. They took him to the train and never saw him again.

When they hadn't heard from him after several weeks, they became concerned and wrote to a Mr. Roberts, his employer. Roberts wrote back, stating that after Hugh came back he drew his money and informed him he was going to GLENN'S FERRY to work in a railroad shop.

After a month's work there, he again drew his wages and said he was going to Pocatello. It was here the trail vanished.

They advertised for him in a Boise paper, wrote the war department, tried to follow a few leads, but nothing ever came from them.

Years passed, but even after Mr. Galley's death, Mrs. Hettie Galley never gave up, stating that she knew her son was alive somewhere. He seemed ever near in her thoughts.

She finally gave up living on the farm and her nephew, Max Galley, farmed the place and lived there.

One Sunday in 1958 a man stopped at the farm and asked where Hettie Galley was staying that he had worked with and knew Hugh Galley. He said his name was Howard Lewis.

Max told him to talk to his mother, Mrs. T. E. (Carrie) Galley, who still lived just west of Max, but Lewis said he was in a hurry and didn't have time then. He also said that he was staying in Twin Falls, that he was a retired policeman, and was waiting for his check to come at the Twin Falls police station.

Bonnie Galley, Max's wife, who saw Lewis, was struck by his amazing resemblance to Hettie Galley and told Max that she was sure that Lewis was Hugh Galley.

Mrs. Carrie Galley, when informed of the man, called the police station and asked them to have Lewis call her. He did call her later but refused to come out to visit with her, but he did ask for Hettie's address.

She was by this time in a rest home at Corvallis, Ore., requiring care as she had become deaf and blind and quite crippled from an auto accident from which she had never completely recovered.

Mrs. Galley asked him to go see her sister-in-law, Hettie, as she had worried so long about her lost son.

Lewis did tell Carrie that he was a retired policeman from Philadelphia, that his wife had died, and he was out here visiting friends. He also asked about a younger boy, John, brother of Hugh, and a sister, Cora.

Lewis said he planned to go to Seattle, so Carrie gave him her niece's and nephew's address.

A stranger did visit at John's, but only his son was home. He told the man that his father worked only four blocks away, but the stranger did not look him up or come back. He evidently visited Cora's home also, but did not find anyone home.

It isn't known if he ever went to Hettie, but he had stated that he was afraid that it would be too much of a shock for her.

Lewis came back to Idaho again in January, 1964. He died May 25, 1964, in his trailer house. The Twin Falls officials assumed his name was Howard Lewis and it was announced in the papers as such.

It was the first part of June that a son, Robert, came out to get his father's pickup truck and trailer house. It was then Robert discovered a strange thing. He found a bill and receipt from Jellison's for a monument purchased for Hester Galley.

Robert went to Jellison's where he was told the man had made the purchase in confidence and that nothing was known of him except the name Howard Lewis.

He then went to the cemetery and talked to one of the caretakers, who happened to be Harry LaCourse, an early resident of Hansen, who had known Hugh and of his subsequent disappearance.

He showed the graves of the Galleys, and also told him how to get to the Carrie Galley home. The marker for Hester was ordered to match the one placed there for her husband. By this time, Robert was quite sure that his father had been Hugh Galley.

He then visited the Galleys. Robert had always thought his father's relatives were dead, as Lewis had said he had no relatives. But in a joint safety deposit box held with his father, they found that Lewis had listed his mother's name as Hester A. McCann, which was her maiden name.

When for reasons unknown, he was going to GLENN'S FERRY to work in a railroad shop.

After a month's work there, he again drew his wages and said he was going to Pocatello.

It was here the trail vanished. They advertised for him in a Boise paper, wrote the war department, tried to follow a few leads, but nothing ever came from them.

Lewis had joined the marines, where he served in Mexico. He later joined the regular army and served during World War I. He married a German girl in 1921 and brought her to America. He had served on the Philadelphia police force when he was released from the armed services.

He had a number of citations from both his army service and the police force. His eldest son, Edgar, was evidently named for his uncle, Ed (T. E.) Galley.

Edgar and Robert live in Philadelphia, and another son, Howard, lives in St. Paul, Minn. A daughter, Eleanor, lives in New York City.

In a picture of Lewis and his wife, which was in the trailer house, and which Robert showed to Mrs. Carrie Galley, there seemed to be no doubt that it was Hugh.

Another picture of one of the boys and his family was given to Mrs. Galley. The young man in it could almost have been a picture of John Galley. As John said, if he had a peculiarly distinctive large nose, a family trait, it had to be Galley.

Many incidents have been cleared up. The Galleys had noticed a stranger drive slowly past their home at different times and living in the country on a road that would not ordinarily be traveled by strangers, he had been noticed.

It was discovered that Mr. Lewis had stayed previously at different times at the "Hello" motel, where he was liked and welcomed. The mysterious appearance of the monument for Hester Galley, thought at first by their Aunt Carrie, to have been placed by John and Cora, then later finding out that it hadn't been, also, was cleared up with Robert's appearance.

Mr. Lewis evidently had been reading the Bible when he died

MAGIC VALLEY PORTRAIT...

Local Businessman Finds ups, Downs No Excuse for Not Aiding Others

Businesswise and otherwise Joe Shelby has had his ups and downs during the years, but he is the first to admit that there is not much that he would change if he had a chance to do it all over again.

The local businessman believes, however, that whether up or whether down, each citizen of a community should do some "free" work that will be of benefit to other who live in that community.

"You should work hard in your own business, because your first requirement is to support your own family, but you should never overdo it to the extent that you do not leave some time you can devote to building a better town or to helping someone else get a start," he said.

He has proved his point during the 45 years he has resided in this general area of the country. He is the last to admit it but many welfare organization in the city will attest to the aid they have received from him, and all without any expectation of getting anything in return.

Shelby was born in Prairie Grove, Ark., on July 22, 1908, and lived in that section until 1919 when he moved, with his father and mother, to the Rupert area.

His father was a farmer and fruit grower and in Rupert he farmed and worked for the irrigation district until his death in 1927. Shelby's mother still resides in Rupert.

Young Shelby went to elementary school in Rupert and was graduated from the Rupert high school. His interest, at that time, was in agriculture and he took courses along that line, he recalls.

of an apparent heart attack, as the Bible was left open. His family said he had raised them well, and had been a good family man, always honorable and upright. He had owned his home but sold it after his wife's death.

His mother, Hettie, died about four or five years ago. At her last visit with her sister-in-law in 1956, she still felt that Hugh was alive and she still thought of him often.

One can only guess at the reasons for his disappearance and change of name. Perhaps, with the heedlessness and impatience of youth, he forgot that his parents would worry. Then as time went on, he perhaps was ashamed, and later afraid the shock would be too much for them. There seems to be no doubt that he always lived an exemplary life as his family and police records show.

The Lewis family seems thrilled and delighted to at least have relatives, as they had never known any of their mother's family, either.

And Mrs. Carrie Galley? She's having a wonderful time becoming acquainted with her newly-found nephews and niece by way of letters, except for Robert, and looking forward to meeting them in person.

JOE T. SHELBY

On April 24, 1926, he married Alice Johnson, a schoolmate sweetheart, and then Shelby was employed by the Rupert Irrigation District for the next two years.

It was about that time he started to think of entering the grocery business, and so he took his wife and headed back to Arkansas, landing at Fayetteville.

But the grocery opening he had dreamed of did not materialize and as a result he ended up with a job in road construction work.

"This was the first time I realized that in this life you didn't get everything you wanted and that some things you planned for just never seemed to happen," Shelby laughed.

After a stint of more construction work in Sonoma, Calif., he still had the "grocery bug" in the back of his head so he and his wife returned to Rupert and he did the next best thing to being a grocer.

He went to work at the Rupert Baking company and then, in 1932, joined his brother, Milburn Shelby, in the operation of a bakery at Ely, Nev.

This venture was profitable until the mines started to close and, as a result, business just dried up.

So it was back to the Rupert bakery for Shelby until 1935 and

"Right now we have 57,000 square feet of gross business," Shelby said "and it's enough to give anybody headaches."

Dale now manages the Buhl store and coin-operated dry business in that community.

Another son, Marty, 18, and wife, Shirley now reside in their recently constructed home in Hillcrest Drive section of Falls.

Shelby is of the opinion people should not join any organization just for the expense belonging to something.

"If an organization is joining, then you should spend some time in supporting it," he declared.

He follows this theory in various organizations of which he is a member.

Shelby is an active member of the Twin Falls Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Masonic Order and Modern Woodmen. In addition he maintains membership in Blue Lakes country club and OAO club, the latter a group.

"There isn't much I've changed since I first started business," Shelby said.

He likes to travel and has in all but one of the United States in addition to Mexico.

His hobby is aiding welfare organizations and his store employ more than 110 people. He is especially proud of the boys of the various stores who have used money earned in manner to continue their education.

Right now, Shelby is the independent grocer in Magic Valley.

Traveling, Thinking Habits of Many Will Change With Highway Completion

ward as 15 to touch Blackfoot and Idaho Falls.

In the case of Twin Falls, the interstate will pass over highway 93, four miles north of the city center, and there will be another interchange north of the Hansen bridge.

This bridge interchange will be about seven miles from downtown Twin Falls on a contemplated route that will see a new road cut at an angle across farmland between the south end of the Hansen bridge and the present highway 30 at a point just north of Kimberly.

Although this route is contemplated, there are some who think it may not end up as the final one and that the traffic might still be routed down Addison avenue east. One official said that court action on the "farmland" route might delay construction up to three years, even if it is undertaken.

Right now there are four of the six sections of the interstate between Burley and Jerome under construction. The work is moving rapidly. Completion of the entire job is expected by 1969.

Right now, in this immediate area, the interchange at the west end of Jerome is practically complete.

The interchange at the intersection of highway 93 north of Twin Falls is well under way and the Hansen bridge interchange is under way, with completion of the main portion expected in two or three months.

The Burley interchange has been in use for some time.

The related projects include construction of a new Hansen bridge, replacing the narrow structure that has spanned the deep Snake river gorge for many years. This new bridge will be west of the present structure and start of construction is expected in 60 to 90 days.

Continuing rumors—too hot to be ignored—foretell of a new location for highway 93, which now joins highway 30 west of Twin Falls, runs through the city and at the Washington school corner turns north to continue into the Wood River Sun Valley country.

One plan would have the road continue straight across highway

30 at its intersection with that road, about four miles west of Twin Falls; then veer northeast and continue east toward the Perrine Memorial bridge, intersecting the present road at some point in that vicinity.

Another rumored plan would see the highway veer east out on the Salmon tract, come across McMaster's flats south of the city of Twin Falls and then come right through town by means of Blue Lakes boulevard south, Blue Lakes boulevard and Blue Lakes boulevard north.

Highway placement and business go hand in hand. Thinking is divided on the resulting impact to the city of Twin Falls.

Some businessmen believe that distance of the interstate from the city will not mean much. Others are just as sure that certain areas of the city will end up as "dead ducks."

One man said, "On a clear day you can see the city of Twin Falls from the interchange, on highway 93. The question then will be whether the view is so startling that the travelling pub-advertising for products or services which in the opinion of the newspaper are not in the public interest.

"The Times has and will continue to refuse paid advertising for these plays."

Advertising for the plays also has been refused by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, the Hollywood Citizen News, the Valley Times Today, the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, the Pasadena Independent Star News, and the South Bay Daily Breeze, according to Lomax.

Following the picketing, Lomax and a committee of actors attempted to place an ad in the Times protesting against the newspaper's refusal to print advertising for the plays, but it was turned down on the basis of the publisher's statement.

"The Ed Sullivan Show," (6 p.m., CBS)—Ed spotlights England's Royal Ballet stars Rudolph Nureyev and Margot Fonteyn. Other guests include comic Alan King, pop singer Petula Clark, and the Beach Boys, vocal and instrumental quintet.

BEST SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIES

"Sleepless" (1961) Clifton Webb, Anne Francis, William Lundigan and Charles Hickford (6 p.m., KUTV)—Fairly funny comedy about a girl who elopes with her college professor after the graduation dance. Some humorous moments, but not hilarious.

"The Facts of Life," (1960) Bob Hope and Lucille Ball (8 p.m., KCPX, KTVE; 9:30 p.m., KMVT, KID)—Bob and Lucy are trying to carry on an extra-marital affair, but it's not as sexy as it sounds. Hilarious satire on "adult" drama with a fast-spaced script. Highly entertaining from their first encounter to the end, when their week-end at a cabin on the Monterey Peninsula doesn't quite produce the romantic interlude they had expected—not with a leaky cabin and Lucy trying to cook the rabbit Bob thought was a chicken. Highlight of the flicker is when they get stuck in a drive-in theater, parked next to Lucy's milkman.

The Green Thumb

by GEORGE ABRAHAM

Gardenia care: The florists' gardenia is noted for two things—fragrant flowers and an ability to drop buds before they open. The potted gardenia (Gardenia jasminoides) is a handsome plant but extremely touchy indoors.

In the greenhouse (where the humidity is from 40 to 60 percent) the gardenia is nice and green. You bring it in the home (humidity about 12 percent) and trouble starts almost instantly. Buds start to drop because of dry air and few, if any, flowers open. It can't take the sudden change in environment from a controlled-climate greenhouse to a hot home. Leaves and new growth turn black at the tips, and in some cases they shed.

In spite of the plant's fickleness, many homeowners can get their gardenia to bloom and fill the room with perfume. How do they do it? They keep the soil constantly moist, never dry or soggy. The plant is grown on a tray of pebbles partially covered with water. It's also syringed almost daily to keep the buds moist. Night temperature should be around 65 degrees; above 70 degrees at night, or below 60 degrees, buds will not form.

During the summer, here's how I handle my gardenia. I set the pot in a hole in the ground and fill in with peat moss. The peat is kept watered and this keeps the roots cool, plant is happy. In fall it is brought indoors to flower. Plant troubles: I get this question real often: "Every time I plant something it dies."

Why is it that one person can set out a tomato plant, rose bush, tree or shrub and they'll die. Another person can set these plants out and they'll all live. I think I know one reason why so many plants die — hot fertilizers. I watched one person set out tomato plants. He made the hole, then poured in some plant food, and on top of this he placed the plant. It died. Fertilizers are salts, just like sodium chloride (table salt). Pour some table salt in a cavity or a hole drilled by a dentist. You'll get the same jolt plants get when they're fed a dose of hot salts at planting time.

Remember, the roots are bare and the ends have been broken. They're just like the exposed nerves in your tooth and suffer in the same way when they come in contact with the fertilizer salts. Transplants don't need those chemicals any more than a patient recovering from an operation needs a big meal. The important thing at transplanting time is water.

There is one exception to feeding at transplanting time. This consists of dipping roots in a liquid plant food, recommended for this job. This root dip is weak enough so as not to harm the roots, and can actually help the plant get off to a faster start after the shock of transplanting has passed. Be sure you follow instructions if you use one of the liquid plant foods. Don't make your own "booster" solution out of dry fertilizers. It may kill your plants.

Madonna lilies: When these stems produce big fat buds which suddenly turn brown or yellow and never open, what's the reason? This is botrytis blight, a fungus that wreaks havoc on peonies, tulips, lilies and dozens of other tulips.

You can do a lot to keep botrytis (also called "fireblight") out by dusting plants weekly with zinc, or use a zinc spray (use one tablespoon of 50 percent grade to a gallon of water). Keep the new buds and new foliage covered because once the disease sets in it's pretty difficult to check it. Remember, botrytis is worse in wet, cool weather, and in places where the air circulation is poor. Keep lilies, peonies and tulips in open locations where the air is stirred up and you'll have little trouble with botrytis.

Blueberries: You can have a lot of fun growing blueberries in the home garden. All these fruit plants need is an acid soil, good drainage and a moderate supply of water. You plant them five by five feet apart. Plant a mixture so you'll get fruit over a period of weeks. Earliest is Earliblue. Early to midseason is Blueray. Another good midseason is Bluecrop, or you can try Berkeley, a new one with strong skin and firm flesh. Coville is a late type, extending the fruiting season from 10 days to three weeks. Jersey and Rubel are old varieties, being midseason to late, and they're hard to beat.

Good flower: Ever grow "Silver Dollars" or St. Peter's pence? You'll probably find it listed as Moonwort (Lunaria annua) or Honesty. In spring it has clusters of purple flowers, and as these fade, they are followed by seed pods that are flattened, clear as plastic, and about the size of a half-dollar. The pod has three layers with the seed inside. The dried seed pods are ideal in bouquets with other dried "everlastings," or you can use them with fresh flowers. Honesty likes any good loose soil, does fine in sun or semi-shade and seeds can be started directly outdoors. Remember, it's a biennial, which means that it flowers the second year after sowing of seeds.

Crown of thorns: This item may look like a cactus but it isn't. It's a member of the poinsettia, being Euphorbia splendens. It needs a constant supply of water. Do not grow it dry. If the branches have grown too large for your window, cut them back and root the cuttings in sand. The plants may "bleed" where you cut them, but don't worry about it. Allow the cuttings dry for a day or so, then root them in moist sand.

QUESTION BOX

Question of the week: C. F. of Twin Falls: "Why is it you never present the viewpoint of organic gardeners—people who do not believe in poisoning the world with chemicals and pesticides. Your poisons in our lawns, gardens and on fruits and vegetables do nothing but cause cancer and other forms of human misery."

This one controversy I never like to get into. If anyone has better way to kill grubs in lawns, produce grub-free fruit, disease-free vegetables and ornamentals, please tell us so we can print it.

Pesticides and chemicals cause misery only to diseases and insects which compete with man for crops. If our orchardists didn't use sprays you'd pay at least $25 for a bushel of apples. Most people who are 35 or younger have never seen a wormy apple in a store. The public wouldn't tolerate it. Our foods today are the cleanest, most nutritious and safest the world has ever known.

You and I spend 23 percent of our income on foods, but in Italy the average is closer to 46 percent.

Russia, fifty percent and Japan even higher. Did you know the French were unable to complete the Panama canal because of mosquitoes? We did the job because we put 10 percent of the cost of building into mosquito control.

Don't worry about agricultural chemicals causing cancer and other diseases. I can think of a lot of other things we use that are worse than pesticides and chemical fertilizers.

F.R. of Kimberly: "Our Easter lily has finished blooming. Can we force it again indoors next year?"

I'd plant it outdoors in a permanent spot. Remove from the pot and plant the bulb about four inches deep. It will surprise you again this fall and bloom.

Every three or four years you can dig the bulb and separate it so you'll get nice large blooms.

Otherwise, it's best to let it grow and bloom again.

Planting time is fall, October to November.

Planting depth is about four inches.

Water well and mulch.

Keep the soil moist.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

SUNDAY, May 16—Born today, you have an inborn understanding of other people and their problems. This is not an understanding, however, that directs itself toward individuals; rather it is whole societies, people in masses, entire nations that interest you and elicit your sympathies. With proper training and a firm background of knowledge, you could be an exceptionally useful asset to your community, your state, even your country.

Emotionally sound, you are not one to become upset over trifles; indeed, you are not even one to demonstrate emotion over major issues—though you may well feel such emotion. This is a trait that should stand you in particularly good stead should you engage in politics or in the field of education. For a good politician or teacher persuades others through reasonable discourse, not through emotional harangues.

Yours can be an exciting life if you take advantage of the opportunities offered. However, not all opportunities will be easy to spot—and it is quite possible that the whole course of your life could be altered through missing a single advantage early in life. You would be wise, therefore, to keep your eyes open and your ear to the ground from the earliest days of your career.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.
